

Launch of 'Swachhta Bharat Mission' in CIBA, Chennai

Scientists, officials, research scholars and contractual staff of Central Institute of Brackishwater Aquaculture (CIBA), Indian Council of Agricultural Research, Chennai commenced "Swachh Bharat Mission" in office premises at Headquarters, Kakdwip Research Centre, West Bengal and Muttukadu Experimental Station, Muttukadu on 2nd October, 2014. The employees arrived early morning itself and started cleaning the individual work places and laboratories and cleared away unwanted stuff lying around. The places like stilts over windows and corridors and passage ways, which are rarely cleaned in normal day to day cleaning, were also brushed and cleaned. All the equipment were cleaned and litter in laboratories and office were disposed as per standard procedures laid. Old records were sent to record room and unusable laboratory and office items were segregated and cordoned off in separate enclosure for disposal through auctioning. Dr. K.K.Vijayan, Director administered the "cleanliness oath" at 09:45 AM to the Officers and staff of CIBA. After the oath ceremony Director briefed the staff about the mission. He stressed the cleanliness of office and home should be a habit to be inculcated by individuals on their own and to be followed every day. This was in continuation with cleanliness campaign week beginning Sep 25 which saw office complex is being spruced up by discarding or overhauling old furniture and sending old files to record rooms and removal of almirahs from corridors.
